— Thumbs Down — THREE APPLICATIONS FOR HARD LIQUOR LICENSES IN CARMEL REFUSED BY BOARD

CHIEF of Police Robert A. Norton has received from the State Board of Equalization notification of the refusal of three applications for hard liquor license in Carmel. As a result, the three affected applicants asked and were granted hearings before a member of the Board of Equalization, and these were to be held yesterday afternoon at the city hall in Salinas. A number of interested Carmel citizens, including city councilmen, attended the hearings.

The application of O. C. Young and R. H. Drever was refused for these four reasons, as specified in the report from the Board of Equalization: The premises do not meet the requirements of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Act; proximity of the premises to a church; protests from the chief of police and the city council; protests from the citizens of Carmel. Young and Drever had already applied for and received a Carmel business license, for which they posted the fee of $100 required of new business establishments here, in accordance with the business license ordinance. They had stated their intention of opening a restaurant and on-sale liquor establishment in the Monte Verde apartment house on Monte Verde near Ocean. The matter was discussed at a council meeting Feb. 13, when Percy Parkes, owner of the building, stated that he himself would have nothing to do with the establishment, being merely the landlord. He has, however, applied to the city license department for refund to him of the $100 fee posted by Young and Drever.

The board refused the application of Sally Neff, doing business as the Mickey Mouse Coffee Cup, on the grounds of protest from the chief of police and protest from property owners.

The application of Jennie B. Bramer, doing business as The Snack, was refused on the grounds of protests received from the chief of police and from the Carmel city council. The city council had instructed Chief of Police Norton not to transfer the business license of The Snack to Mrs. Bramer from her husband, who closed The Snack some months ago at the request of the State Board, because he was not a citizen of the United States, as required of on-sale liquor establishment proprietors by a recent act of the state legislature.

Clara Kellogg and Everett Smith Strong Favorites in Council Race

WITH the backing of a large, varied and influential group of citizens who are actively interesting themselves in the campaign, Miss Clara Kellogg and Everett Smith are emerging as strong favorites among the numerous candidates for city council to be voted upon at the election April 14. Though each entered the race independently, their support is coming so largely from the same elements among the voters that the two have been more or less bracketed as a ticket, though without the request of either candidate. Their supporters find them alike in being well qualified for office, being without ulterior motives, refusing to make pre-election promises save that they will consider each item of city business on its own merits, as it arises; in having personalities which make it possible for them to cooperate with others, without either seeking to dominate or tending to follow the leadership of a stronger personality; and in having characters unassailed and unassailable.

Everett Smith is a native son of California. He was born in Sacramento, grew up and went to school there. He lived for three years in Reno, then returned to the Mt. Shasta region where he farmed for eight years. He entered the army in 1917, and saw 18 months of overseas service in a balloon company. After the war he entered the United States forestry service, being stationed at various times on Mt. Shasta, in the Mendocino forest, and having charge of the Monterey forest from 1926 to 1928. In the latter year he came to the Monterey peninsula as forester for the Del Monte Properties Company, which brings his history up to

More Exits Will Be Provided In New Movie House

At a meeting Tuesday of the civic committee appointed by Mayor Thoburn to confer with builders of the new theater on the matter of safety exits, Manager David J. Bolton of the Monterey Theaters Corp. reported that requests of the committee would be complied with. An opening for a balcony exit has already been made in the east wall of the theater, where a fire-escape will be installed, and Mr. Bolton promised that an extra exit will be made on the west side of the ground floor.

Meeting with Mr. Bolton were Fire Commissioner Bernard Rountree, City Inspector B. W. Adams, Fredric Burt and Milton Latham.

Carmel Couple to Wed In Berkeley

At St. Clement's church in Berkeley tomorrow, Miss Virginia Caldwell and Remo Scardigli will be married in the presence of a small company of relatives and friends. Miss Caldwell has been a resident of Carmel for about a year, and Mr. Scardigli, well known as one of the art group of the peninsula, came here from San Francisco about two years ago. He is a sculptor in wood. For several months past Miss Caldwell has been acting as secretary to Mrs. Nelly Montague, supervisor of the WPA art project. She resigned this position about a week ago when she left for Berkeley to prepare for the wedding. Miss Caldwell is a graduate of the University of California and Mr. Scardigli attended the California School of Fine Arts.

The young couple will return from the bay city early next week, to make their home in Pacific Grove.

League of Women Will Meet Tuesday

The monthly executive board meeting of the Monterey County League of Women Voters will be held next Tuesday morning, March 31, at 10 o'clock at Mission Inn, Monterey, followed by luncheon. In the afternoon at the same place the government and its operation section will meet at 2 o'clock to continue its study of civil service under Mrs. Howard V. Walters, chairman.

Miss Kellogg, in the toastmaster's immortal words, needs no introduction to Carmel. For a number of years past she has had a valued voice in civic and school affairs here. She is a native of Rochester, Minn., went to high school in St. Paul, and to the University of Minnesota. For several years she taught in the St. Paul high school and later had considerable experience in social service, as head of St. Paul's Neighborhood House.

Miss Kellogg and her sister, Miss Ella, came to Carmel as residents about 15 years ago, and later built their rugged, gray timbered home on Casanova, a house which is as "typically Carmel" as they are themselves. A member of the board of the old library, Miss Kellogg continued as a member of Ralph Chandler Harrison memorial library board, four years in all, from 1926 to 1930.

Sunset Faculty Sponsors Concert

Sponsored by the faculty of Sunset school and other music lovers of the peninsula, a free concert will be given next Tuesday evening, March 31, at 8:15 in Sunset auditorium by Joann Halamicek, violinist, and Jeanne Halamicek, dramatic soprano. Joann is the young violinist, who has been favorably compared with the other child prodigies. Menuhin and Ricci, and Jeanne, the singer, also occupies a unique niche among young artists.

The two girls, still in their teens, come from a long line of musicians. Their father is a teacher of violin, their mother a voice teacher. Joann began the study of the violin at the age of four, against the wishes of her father, who thought that babies should be free to play and should not be moulded into "child prodigies." But the child's whole interest was in music, and by the time she was seven she had made such progress that her father consented to allow her to study seriously. Similarly, little Jeanne, spending her baby days in her mother's studio listening to pupils' vocal exercises, began early to imitate them. It is reported that at the age of 16 months, before she could speak distinctly, she was carrying the tunes of scales, arpeggi and folk melodies.

As children, the two little girls frequently appeared in public, and held their first large recital in Chicago. Last winter Joann made her professional debut in the San Francisco War Memorial opera house, sponsored by many outstanding Californians. She is reported to have acquired complete technical mastery of the violin, which is coupled with an extraordinary musical temperament, a heritage from her Bohemian ancestry.

TRUSTEES POSTPONE MEET

Postponed until April 9 is the regular monthly meeting of Sunset school board of trustees.

Wednesday noon was the deadline for candidates for the city election to file nomination papers; and at that hour there were six aspirants for the two positions on the city council safely under the tape; four for treasurer, and Saidee Van Brower, Carmel's perennial city clerk, was as usual unopposed for re-election. April 14 is the date of the election.

Here are the candidates and their sponsors:

Ernest W. Aldrich, former Vermonter and resident of Carmel since 1929, who favors a budget system under which he says he could cut the expenditures of Carmel 25 per cent. His nomination paper was circulated by his wife, Constance Aldrich, and has the following signers: Paul S. Mercurio, Charles Delos Curtis, Niel N. Twilegar, Robert L. Anderson, J. Weaver Kitchen, Marion W. Overhulse, Frank E. Overhulse, John Carl Wiegold, Rae M. Welsh and Charles Clark.

W. K. Bassett, whose presence at the council table would at least assure plenty of excitement, returned to Carmel from the east about a year and a half ago after having previously been in the publishing business here. He was publisher of Controversy until that magazine was moved to San Francisco, then founded Pacific Weekly, "western journal of fact and opinion" and revived the Carmel Cymbal, weekly newspaper, which he had founded here a number of years ago. The publisher voluntarily put The Cymbal to bed a number of months ago in order to devote full time to Pacific Weekly. He says he is a candidate "on the persistent demand of my own vanity" and believes the council needs "an intelligent person who has no property interests in Carmel." His nomination paper was circulated by Albert L. Van Houtte and was signed by Mr. Van Houtte, Courtland J. Arne, Dorothy C. Love, Francis Whitaker and Yvonne K. Navas-Rey.

Dr. R. E. Brownell was appointed to the council in the spring of 1935, to finish out the term of Robert A. Norton, who resigned to become chief of police. He is a native of San Jose, graduate of the University of California, and has been practicing dentistry here for the past ten years. He is a candidate to succeed himself with the following sponsors: Grant Wills, John Claywell, Jr., W. C. Nielsen, R. A. Burke, R. E. Garrett, Fred Leidig, H. C. Overin, W. B. Moore, Harry E. Farley and Clara J. Gray. John R. Gray circulated his paper.

John Catlin of the Forge in the Forest has been active in Carmel politics for many years. He came here to practise his hobby, wrought-iron work, after retiring from law practice in San Francisco. He was elected to the council in 1932 after having campaigned unsuccessfully in 1928 and 1930. He is running on his record, with emphasis on economy. Alice Y. Nugent circulated his nomination paper which was signed by Richard W. Johnson, Paul S. Mercurio, Courtland J. Arne, Mary V. Hathaway, Charles Delos Curtis, Howard Jackson, Helen Wood, T. B. Blanchard and J. Weaver Kitchen.

Miss Clara N. Kellogg, councilwoman from 1930 to 1934, has a three-word platform: "Keep Carmel Beautiful!" She is sponsored by the following: George M. Whitcomb, Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff, Mrs. Carl S. Rohr, Everett Smith, Hurd Comstock, Herbert Heron, Hazel Watrous, Vera Peck Millis and James L. Cockburn. Mr. Cockburn circulated the petition.

Everett Smith, who has held the title of city forester for a number of months but has never been assigned any duties under that honorary title, makes his bow to politics in this campaign. Signing his nomination paper were Frank Townsend, who circulated it, Ross C. Miller, H. C. Hibbert, E. H. Ewig, Hugh W. Comstock, John H. Neikirk, Earl Graft, Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff, R. F. Haller and Clara N. Kellogg.

So far it seems to be anybody's race for treasurer, with the voters generally open-minded as to which to prefer. Barnett Segal, the incumbent, was the first to file his paper, sponsored by Hal D. Bragg, who circulated the petition. L. E. Gottfried, H. W. Turner, Fred McIndoe, John R. Gray, Hurd Comstock, James H. Thoburn, Adolph C. Lafrenz, W. E. Kneass and Harold Nielsen.

Walter Gaddum, retired, is sponsored by J. L. Doulton, Arthur T. Shand, Conrad Imelman, William Kibbler, Helen A. Willard, Byington Ford, M. J. Murphy, Carl S. Rohr, Col. C. G. Lawrence and Everett Smith. Mr. Shand circulated the paper.

Miss Helen W. Parkes, former councilwoman, is sponsored by Mary V. Hathaway, Kent Clark, L. S. Slevin, Perry Newberry, Charles Delos Curtis, Daisy Bostick, J. Weaver Kitchen, Charles Clark, Margaret N. Clark and Paul C. Prince. Stella L. Vincent circulated the petition.

Ira D. Taylor is sponsored by Niel N. Twilegar, E. H. Ewig, Wesley T. Davison, Bessie L. Stone, Mrs. Esther G. Browne, George Whitcomb, Harry L. Clement, James H. Stonier, Lloyd G. Weir and Ross E. Bonham. Rudolph E. Overley circulated his petition.

Without Saidee Van Brower in the city hall Carmel would not be Carmel; and Carmel trees would lose their staunchest friend. Saidee is a civic institution, and it is a satisfaction to her innumerable friends that no candidates are in the field against her. Paul C. Prince circulated her nomination petition, which bears the following names: Paul C. Prince, DeWitt W. Johnson, Herbert Heron, Bernice Warren, Elizabeth H. Sullivan, Laura Maxwell, Otilie J. Lowell, Winifred J. Hollison, Charles Delos Curtis and L. S. Slevin.

Storm Leaves .66 Inches Precipitation

After one completely rainless month in what is normally a rainy period, the March drought was broken early this week with a total precipitation of .66 inches, falling Monday night and early Tuesday morning. This brought the season's total to 16.90, whereas the total a year ago was just under the 20-inch mark. There was a dry period in March a year ago, but not so long as this year.

Public to Ballot on Artists' Work at Carmel Gallery

Beginning April 1 the public will have an opportunity to express its opinion of the work shown in the monthly exhibits of Carmel Art Association, at the art gallery. A ballot box will be conspicuously placed, and when it is opened at the end of the month the picture which receives the most votes will be hung for a week in the niche at Carmel library offered to the art gallery for loan exhibits. If the plan proves popular and satisfactory, it may be continued after the month of April.

Filmarte Offers Fine Film Fare

This week-end, on the eve of its peninsula premiers of "The Three Musketeers," the Filmarte is offering another of its favorite "last chance" series. The group includes "Once to Every Woman," a splendid hospital romance with Fay Wray, Ralph Bellamy, Mary Carlisle and Walter Connolly; "20th Century," a fast-moving comedy played on New York's famous flyer by John Barrymore and Carole Lombard; and "Thunder in the East," a thrilling romantic drama of the Far East, starring Charles Boyer and Merle Oberon and incidentally bringing to the screen some of the most stunning photography achieved to date.

The Filmarte management announces that "The Three Musketeers" which is being brought here for special engagement next week, Saturday and Sunday, April 4 and 5, will be given two matinees and two showings each night.

Gates-Meldrim Nuptials Held

Miss Margenette Meldrim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Meldrim of Monterey, and Harold Keith Gates, son of Dr. Amelia Gates of Carmel, were united in marriage at a ceremony performed by Rev. Theodore Bell in St. John's chapel, Del Monte, last Sunday afternoon, before a large company of friends of both families.

The bride was attended at the altar by Miss Mildred Pearson of Carmel and Glendale as maid of honor and Miss Loda Strait of Modesto as bridesmaid. The bridegroom's attendant was John Neikirk, and the ushers were Ronald Cockburn and W. Thom Neikirk. A reception to the wedding guests in the lounge at Del Monte followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gates departed on a motor trip to Southern California. They will make their home in Carmel, on Camino Real.

NEXT COUNCIL MEETING

Next meeting of the city council will be the regular monthly session, Wednesday evening, April 8, at 7:45.

"My wife likes the smartness and roominess of the Ford—but

THIS V-8 ENGINE OPENED MY EYES!"

ENGINEERS have known for years the undisputed advantages of the V-type engine . . . simplicity, economy, compactness, ruggedness. But until Ford announced the first Ford V-8 in 1932, no one had found a way to bring these advantages to the low-priced field.

Since its introduction this engine has been constantly refined and improved—but the basic features of Ford design have remained through the production of over two million V-8 engines.

This is the engine that powers the beautiful 1936 Ford V-8 . . . and, because it is V-type and compact, gives "all that extra room" that many a woman has wondered about in the Ford V-8 body. This is the engine which proved sparkling performance and eight cylinder smoothness are economical if you have a V-type engine with a dual-down-draft carburetor that takes the "gas" used by a four and splits it into eight equal charges.

This is the engine you need for quick, sure, cold-weather starting this winter—the engine that's "opened the eyes" of over two million enthusiastic Ford owners.

You'll find such an engine in no other car at anywhere near the price of the Ford V-8 for 1936—So why not arrange to drive one today?

THE presence of Col. Charles Wellington Furlong, traveler, writer, soldier and lecturer, in Carmel as a guest of Mrs. Calista Bosqui Spinney, made possible a special meeting of the Woman's club under the auspices of the current events section Wednesday morning, when Col. Furlong addressed the group at Pine Inn on "World Events and Eventualities." Taking a unique view of history and its interrelation with current events, he emphasized three crucial moments of the past of which the repercussions are still being felt.

"Today we are seeing the whole world, rather than piecemeal," the speaker emphasized, in pointing out that everywhere events form part of an intricately woven tapestry, affecting farflung portions of the globe. Growth of industrialism, by which the search for markets has changed the cultures of whole peoples, even to destroying the handicraft civilization of primitive races; and development of systems of communications, with their dual possibility for good and evil, the dissemination of truth and falsehood being equally rapid; these two factors have annihilated distance and differences.

"Never in history were a nation's objectives so well known in advance as were Italy's in reference to Ethiopia," he commented, on the second of the two. Likewise with the "next" European war; so much is now known of European affairs as they happen daily that every nation is "on guard," and each nation will think twice before starting anything before the critical eyes of world opinion.

The import of three world situations were traced; the Moroccan treaty of 1904, Turkey's part in the world war, and the almost-forgotten little war of Italy and Tripoli. The Moroccan treaty appeared to be an agreement on Britain's part to allow France to occupy certain portions of Morocco. Actually, said Col. Furlong, this reflected the growing consciousness of the two powers that Germany was becoming a menace to both; it was the outer husk of a "deal" by which France and Britain agreed to respect each other's "spheres of influence," thereby avoiding causes for war and giving each other portions of the world which belonged to neither, in order to keep Germany from getting them.

The world war began in Turkey, and Turkey was the crux of the situation, the speaker declared, referring to the Berlin-to-Bagdad railway which was Germany's answer to England's domination of the seas. He expressed the opinion that it was well for the United States and her allies that Turkey was on the side long said, inspired Italy with the ambition to secure colonies in North Africa, and probably promised to protect her while she took possession.

While praising the purposes and accomplishments of the League of Nations, as offering the first world forum for the criticism of imperialistic aims, Col. Furlong expressed the opinion that it is well for the United States to be out of it. He fears that active participation in the League would be an entering wedge in this country for diplomacy of the old-world order, feels that the U. S. exerts a more wholesome influence from outside the league.

Theodore Strong Plays Tomorrow

The long delayed recital of Theodore Strong, who will play an organ without pipes, reeds or bellows, has definitely been set for tomorrow afternoon at Lila's Music Shop in Monterey. The public is invited.

The organ upon which Mr. Strong will play consists of merely a console and an amplifier. The console is smaller than an upright piano, being approximately four and a half feet long by two feet wide and weighing 275 pounds. The amplifier, concealed behind the choir loft, is about three feet square and weighs 200 pounds. Despite its size, however, the instrument duplicates all the tones and combinations of tones possible with large pipe organs.

There are two manuals, with 61 playing keys on each, plus 36 harmonic controls, a volume pedal and a tremulant. Almost countless special effects can be obtained, including the tones of the harp, violin, flute, clarinet trumpet, bass horn, oboe, saxophone, xylophone and even bagpipes.

Deer Leaps From Path to Death In Front of Automobile

Apparent suicide of a large buck deer was reported by a vacationing Stanford student, returning one evening this week from Pebble Beach lodge. Near the Carmel end of the Seventeen-Mile Drive the deer leaped from the bank directly into the path of the car, so suddenly that the driver had no chance to avert a collision. The impact killed the deer and the automobile did not fare to well either, coming off with smashed headlights, radiator and fenders scarred. The driver reported the accident to the gate-keeper at this end of the drive, the carcass of the deer was retrieved and donated to the Salvation Army.

Activities of Girl Scouts Related

Girl Scouts of Troop 4, Monterey, celebrated the first day of spring with a hike up Jack's Peak last Saturday. They met at the Carmel Girl Scout House at 10 o'clock and hiked, sang and learned names of flowers, ferns and trees until on the top at noon they ate the lunch prepared by Betty Adamson, Tenderfoot Scout, who needed to plan a hike as a Second Class requirement. Those who went were Patricia Hall, Jane Haskell, Betty Adamson, Barbara Haasis, Margaret Dorrance, and their leader, Miss Kathleen Lydon.

A Girl Scout training course for Brownie leaders is being conducted in Monterey by the local director on Tuesday and Thursday mornings during April. Persons already registered are Mrs. A. J. Hart, Monterey; Miss Edna Dawson, Pacific Grove; Mrs. Ernest J. Morehouse and Mrs. James Regan, Carmel; Mrs. L. Underwood and Mrs. J. S. Tensfeldt, Del Monte.

Miss Jane Burritt of Carmel and Mrs. F. C. Marsh, Monterey, having completed the general Girl Scout training course, have organized a troop of Japanese Girl Scouts which meets at the Monterey Little House on Wednesday afternoons. The troop is No. 13 and is divided into the Ace and the Eagle patrols, with Anna Takaguchi and Matsuo Tabata as patrol leaders. Other members are Yasue Oyama, Grace Manaka, Lily Manaka, Kayue Takegawa, Sanae Okumura and Evelyn Yahanda. The first four meetings are being devoted to general organization and the passing of tenderfoot tests.

Carmel persons attending Girl Scout leaders' conference in Palo Alto this week-end are: Mrs. Ralph A. Coote, Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mrs. Pat Hudgins, Miss E. M. Ackroyd and Miss K. M. Lydon; Monterey residents: Miss Vida Jacks, Mrs. A. J. Hart; Pacific Grove: Mrs. George de Lorimier, Mrs. E. Cooke Smith, Mrs. George Barney, Mrs. Murray Matthews and Miss Edna Dawson.

ORCHESTRA REHEARSALS

Preparatory to the summer festival of music the first spring rehearsal of the Monterey Peninsula Community orchestra will be held next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the lunchroom at Sunset school.

Students to Show Spring Fashions

"Clothes for the modern miss" will be the theme for Monterey Union High School annual spring fashion show, to be held in the gym on Thursday evening, April 2 at 8 p.m.

Each year the clothing classes, under the direction of their instructor, Miss Ruth Blanchard, exhibit clothes which they have made themselves and which are based entirely on their personal needs. The prices range from less than $1 to $10.

A wide variety of styles, colors and materials will be shown, including the acetate crepes and cotton laces, which are so smart this year.

Two features to be shown will be a sharkskin tailleur suit in white made by a student in first-year sewing, and a hand-knit sport suit worn under a navy blue to coat, both made by students in the same first-year class.

Among the girls from Carmel who will model clothes they have made themselves are Betty Brown, Gerry Thienes, Marjorie Lockwood, Geraldine Kerner, Pat Hall, Jean Hollingsworth, Alice Meckenstock, Elizabeth Petty, Gail Johnson, Frances McIntyre, Sue Chapman, Marjorie Dorrance Pauline Funchess, Betty Haskell, Jeradine Lamb, Dorothy Smith, Jeanne May, Eunice Scarlett, Satako Kodani and Irene Stevenson.

High Goal Polo Reaching Climax

The high goal polo season now in full swing at the Del Monte fields with games almost daily will reach its climax Sunday when two evenly matched teams meet in the finals of the Pacific Coast Open championship.

Finals of another important event—the Del Monte 16-goal tournament—will be held this afternoon.

Election of School Trustees Set June 5

Trustees will be elected by 64 school districts of Monterey county on June 5, it has been announced from the office of County Superintendent of Schools James G. Force.

Deadline to register for the trustees' election is April 25. All candidates for school trustee offices must file their intentions with the county superintendent of schools office by May 21.

At the last session of the state legislature, the date of school trustees election was advanced to June. The term of office of trustees expired under the old law, May 1, but has been extended to July 1, under the new set up.

The term of E. H. Ewig as trustee for Sunset district expires July 1. Friends of Mr. Ewig hope he will consent to again be a candidate.

MARTINI TO SING HERE

Word was received this week that the concert of Myra Hess, April 11, for the Carmel Music Society, has been cancelled and in its place has been substituted a concert by Nino Martini, tenor, on the evening of Monday, April 20.

Bids on Firehouse Bonds To Be Opened April 15; Culvert Again

MEETING Friday evening, the city council passed a resolution calling for bids on the firehouse bonds, which will be opened April 15. The bonds will be serial type, bearing not more than five per cent interest, and are to be paid off in 12 years at the rate of $1000 a year. Rate of interest is to be specified by the bidders.

After reading a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Hal Bragg protesting the city's failure to give them relief from flood waters boosted by culvert into their garden, the council decided that as both the Bragg and John Neikirk homes are built in a ravine which is a natural water course, it is just their hard luck if they suffer from excess flood drainage. Street Commissioner Burge said that the affected property owners had turned down one solution offered by the city, involving the building of a stone curb and gutter at a cost of about $9 a lot to the property owners.

"Is it not a fact that we are sending them more water than they would naturally receive?" asked Mayor Thoburn, referring to the culvert at Eighth and Torres, which instead of lying parallel with Torres street, is pointed directly into the Bragg property. Mr. Burge said he doubted this. Acting City Attorney Ryker said that there are court precedents for the council's attitude that if the offending storm waters followed a natural water course into private property, the city could not be held responsible. There was no discussion as to the legal right of the street department to dig drainage ditches from Torres to carry excess water into the Bragg property, along artificial rather than natural lines.

After a tour of inspection of various trees on city property for which requests for removal or trimming were received at the meeting of March 18, the council gave permission to the builders of the service station at Sixth and San Carlos for the removal of a large redwood and a pine; to Ralph Skene to remove a tree blocking his proposed driveway at Tenth and Camino Real and to trim other trees to admit sunlight from the south; to Norman Reynolds for the topping of a cypress obstructing his marine view on Scenic; to Mary A. Goold for removal of branches outside the windows of her downtown apartment; to Miss Clara Hinds for removal of a tree adjoining her property on Junipero near Eighth; to Esta Broughton to build six feet from the property line at Casanova near Ninth, permissible because of the slope of the lot, but asked by the owner in order to save a clump of trees.

From Myra L. Palache was received a letter protesting the parallel parking of cars along the middle of Ocean avenue—the council decided she must have meant the diagonal parking, as there is no parallel parking at that point—and objecting to the new stop signs.

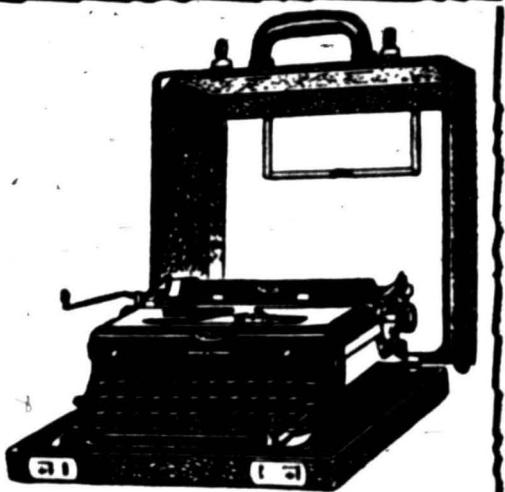

From Henry S. Tusler in Phoenix, Ariz., was received a telegram strongly protesting the proposed opening of Eighth and Del Mar avenues in such a manner as to form a roadway on the beach, and saying affected property owners wished an opportunity to state their case. Mr. Tusler also phoned from Phoenix the night of March 18, and was assured by Mayor Thoburn that opening of the streets was not contemplated.

The council was considerably puzzled by a letter from Mrs. Nelly Montague, director of federal art projects, stating she had been informed the council "resented" her appearing on behalf of certain proposed civic art projects. Wondering if they had at some time been guilty of unintentional courtesy, the council hastened to instruct the city clerk to write Mrs. Montague that far from resenting her presence in the council chamber, they considered it a positive adornment, and that they only wished all who had business before their august body were equally business-like and dignified.

Chevrolet's
high-compression valve-in-head engine gives economy without equal!

Every test proves it's more economical . . . Every Chevrolet owner knows it's more economical . . . And every person will readily understand these simple A-B-C reasons why it is more economical

The Chevrolet engine is the most economical automobile engine produced today, because (1) it is a six-cylinder engine, and (2) it is a valve-in-head six-cylinder engine. . . . Its six cylinders use less gas and oil—in fact, use the least gas and oil—because six cylinders are the most economical combination used in modern automobiles. . . . Its valve-in-head design cuts gasoline consumption still lower because there is less loss of heat through the walls of the combustion chamber in valve-in-head engines, and the advanced construction of the Chevrolet engine gives maximum heat (or power) saving. . . . Most important of all, Chevrolet's more efficient cooling system, pressure stream oiling and the greater accessibility of all working parts result in more dependable operation, over a longer period of time, with the lowest maintenance costs.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

We had a nice visit the other day with Mrs. C. B. K. May, the portrait painter, who is staying with Gessina Dorothy Lamke and visiting her niece, Gladys Steele at the Press in the Forest. Mrs. May has with her a few reproductions of the work which have won her any number of prizes; that is, photographic reproductions, which leave to the imagination the rich coloring of the originals.

Though Mrs. May's accent is English, her background is international. Her father, Captain Klitgaard, a Dane, became a citizen of the United States while sailing his own fullrigged ship between San Francisco and Hongkong back in the '50s and '60s, and several of his children live in San Francisco. Capt. Klitgaard eventually retired to Denmark, where he was knighted by his king.

This is Mrs. May's first visit to California, and of course she finds Carmel the most delightful spot in California. She is making a long stay in the United States, studying the contemporary art of America and also painting portraits and scenery. She has exhibited in the Royal Academy of London, the Royal Academy of Copenhagen, from which she holds the title of "Artiste Peintre de l' Academie Royale de Copenhagen," and in the Salon in Paris where one of her portraits of a young boy won her the honor of being chosen as the best child portraitist of England. The portrait was reproduced as a full color page in one of the best illustrated papers in London. Like many other newspapers and international art magazines, La Revue Moderne follows Mrs. May's work closely and reproduces her paintings from time to time.

In London she has painted miniatures of numerous social leaders, including Lady Louis Mountbatten, cousin of the present king, and her daughter Patricia, Countess Annesley, Countess Brecknock, and others.

Mrs. May will be returning to San Francisco shortly and to New York in June, to visit her brother, Carl Klitgaard on his country place in New Jersey. Her studio is at Albion Lane, Herne Bay, Kent.

"Vein of Iron" Will Be Reviewed for Club

At the next meeting of the Woman's club book section, next Wednesday morning at 10:30 at Pine Inn, Ellen Glasgow's "Vein of Iron" will be reviewed by Mrs. Ross C. Miller. The Woman's club garden section will meet next Thursday morning at 10:30 at the home of Miss Mary Gau, Eighth and Torres. There will be no outside speaker, but each member is to bring a verse of poetry on gardens or flowers.

A WOMAN who has made her mark on the commercial life of Alaska was a Carmel visitor for a short time this week: Mrs. Thomas Petersen, of Teller. As a side line to her fox farm and general store, which take up most of her time, she has also operated mining properties and steamship lines, which latter career has won her the sobriquet, among her friends, of "the Tugboat Annie of Alaska." Her sister, Miss Adella Vollmers, was with her here. Both were guests of Dene Denny, of whom Mrs. Petersen was a classmate and sorority sister at University of California.

PINE PITH, PITCH AND BARK

AMID the sound and fury of Europe's insane war fever, let us hope there are enough men who remember what horrible butchery, what futile, purposeless, profitless catastrophe war is, even for the victor.

How long they can keep the powder keg from exploding depends, ultimately, upon the length and vividness of their memory. Postponement is all that can be hoped for now. The clash may be avoided for a year or two years or three. Lloyds of London has wagered 9½ against 1 that it will not happen within six months. But there is no escaping the conclusion that it will come.

One thing could prevent war, perhaps for a century or two. But that thing itself is catastrophe, of a different sort. It is chaos, and possibly revolution.

Today there is not a solvent power in Europe. All the big nations are deeply in debt, and all are spending at a drunken rate in a race for armaments. If the topheavy indebtedness led into the whirlpool of wholesale inflation, they would be well on the way to financial collapse and general disintegration.

That would stop war, but its devastation would be virtually as great as armed conflict.

Thus as Hitler camps along the Rhine scarcely a stone's throw from France's bristling fortifications, the best Europe can hope for is delay in the arrival of inevitable catastrophe. And chief among all the factors holding off the explosion will be, ultimately, memory of the first world war. If only they can remember for decades longer.

AN old issue popped up in the news last week. Somebody seemed suddenly to remember that, by heavens, Europe hadn't yet taken care of that little matter of a dozen billions or so which they still owe America from the last war, had they? The someone was California's Senator McAdoo, and he proposed a nine-man commission to reopen war debt discussions. He claimed this was timely, since Germany had probably been encouraged to defy the Allies by knowing they had lost U. S. financial support. Johnson, another one of our own, said such overtures on our part would smack of pawnshop tactics, lowering our dignity. He said the defaulters had buttered their bread and now they could lie in it.

The way they hurl it about, you'd think politicians had never heard of soil conservation.

CALIFORNIA'S board of equalization gave up the ghost the other day. Meeting, appropriately perhaps, in Death Valley, they decided that liquor and taxes don't mix. All tax matters and all liquor matters were deemed simply too much for one commission to handle. They chose to hang on to their tax duties, and have a separate state liquor commission set up. They suggested city councils and boards of supervisors be given advisory authority over liquor licenses, with final approval, probably only routine, resting with the new commission.

APPARENTLY all the fireworks are over in Congress for this session, and the most exciting thing left for the senators and representatives to do is to adjourn. No more bombshells, such as the President's request for new taxes, are likely to come along, and what will happen concerning the taxes is pretty much a foregone conclusion. The bill has still to be drawn up, but there is little chance now that Congress will deviate from Roosevelt's original suggestion of a corporations surplus levy and new processing taxes. Republicans will vote solidly against it. Democrats will vote solidly for it. Congress will clean up a few minor matters, meanwhile, and when the Chief Executive's signature is on the revenue bill it will be about time to call it quits. They hope to make it by May 1. And the people are saying thank you.

WPA is to spend $500,000 in training house maids. Anyone with experience would know that sum hardly covers the broken dishes.

CAN you say, three times in rapid succession, "around the rugged rock the ragged rascal ran"? A man who couldn't say it soon after his car had killed a pedestrian was convicted of negligent homicide in San Jose the other day. A doctor testified also that he was unable to say "Methodist Episcopal." California is out of date in its tests for drunkenness. Scientists now test the blood for a clue, and if they find a certain amount of alcohol the man is adjudged intoxicated, no matter how straight he can walk, or how rapidly he can tell the exploits of ragged rascals.

ALL of last week's pyrotechnic display over the border blockade by Los Angeles police has served only to illuminate a fact that was obvious at the start.

Local officers of any one community simply have not the authority to impede the free flow of citizens from one state to another. In other words, if California's problem is to keep out indigents, bums and hobos, it is a matter for the state as a whole, and even the state, if it does choose to act, will have to watch its step lest it violate the U. S. Constitution.

CALIFORNIANS are smiling these days at the prospect of having smaller gas bills to pay after May 1. Reduction in rates announced the other day for all the northern half of the state amounts to a saving of $2,500,000 in the aggregate.

To various individual housewives, of course, the good news is not in the size of this lump sum, but in the fact that they can buy better steak, and more of it, now that it costs less to fry.

More important in the long run, perhaps, is that out of all the recent shadow boxing over rates, a more enlightened policy seems to have emerged not only for gas, but for electric power also. The state regulatory body on the one hand and the power distributors on the other have now before them a prospect of harmony, with the basic idea that of giving the consumer a better break.

Giants, Pilots Winning Teams

By RONALD JOHNSON

THE Giants made their leading position in the Carmel Abalone League more secure than ever last Sunday when they beat the Tigers by a score of 8 to 3. In the second game the Pilots redeemed themselves when they made their first win of the season, beating the powerful Shamrock team, 6 to 4.

The Giants scored five times in the first inning and stayed ahead of the Tigers for the rest of the game. The Tigers fought back but were unable to catch up with their conquerors. Alderson, Hilbert and Warren led the Giants batters with two runs each, and Kelsey scored twice for the Tigers.

The Pilot-Shamrock affair was tied in the fourth inning with three runs for each team. In the fifth two runs were added to the Pilot score by Hicks and Hagemeyer, and the Pilots' revenge was assured from then on.

The Pilots will have an opportunity to stop the champions when they meet the Giants next Sunday, March 29, at 1:30. The second game of the afternoon will bring together the Tigers and the Shamrocks at 2:45. Both games will be played on the Carmel Woods diamond, and all Carmelites interested in softball competition are invited to attend.

Two Weeks Vacation

You can vacation far from home if you go by train

BECAUSE swift air-conditioned trains travel night and day, covering nearly 1,000 miles every 24 hours.

In two weeks you can make a leisurely trip East (low summer roundtrip fares start May 15). And you can go on one of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes and return on a different one, seeing twice as much.

Southern Pacific meals are inexpensive. Complete luncheons and dinners cost as little as 80¢, breakfasts 50¢. In coaches and tourist sleeping cars, sandwiches are served for 10¢, coffee or milk 5¢, doughnuts 5¢, etc.

Martha Graham to Dance at Sunset Tomorrow Night

By DORA HAGEMEYER

"WE must look to America to bring forth an art as powerful as the country itself," says Martha Graham, great American dancer. "We look to the dance to evoke and affirm life, to expose its vigor, its mystery, its humor, its variety, and its wonder."

The Carmel Music Society will present Martha Graham tomorrow night at the Sunset School Auditorium in the third concert of its annual series. Everyone who is interested in the art of our own time should see her. She is that rare combination of the modern spirit and a sense of timeless beauty which flames from the crest of an epoch marking its high places. One counts the milestones of culture by these peaks in the various arts, but it seems that in the art of the dance they are the most significant. In it is portrayed the real spirit of a people. In motion, rhythm, and gesture are found those keys which reveal the truth. The precise point of our cultural development is obvious in the dance.

It is for this reason that the art of Martha Graham is so remarkable. She has not compromised with the past; she is the product of an intense realization of the essence of the present. Such courage has cast many a great artist into obscurity during his lifetime. Only after the times have caught up with him has he been recognized; usually after his death. But with Martha Graham it is different. She has conquered the most hide-bound New York audiences and has claimed for herself or perhaps more truly, for her art, the most enthusiastic praise ever accorded to a dancer by conservative critics. In spite of themselves they have had to acclaim her, for what she presents to them is true and nothing is more convincing than the truth.

The spirit of the West and all that it means of courage and fortitude is evident in Miss Graham's newest composition, "Frontier" which she will dance tomorrow night. This dance has been written about more than any other single dance of our time. It is an "American Perspective of the Plains" with music by Louis Horst, and in it she captures the spirit of history and projects it through the light of understanding into the present. It is a noble and most enduring piece of work. "Dance in Four Parts" with music by George Antheil has captured all audiences by its fancy, imagination and humor. The music is most extraordinary. "Satyr Festival Song" with music by Imre Weissbach (whom Carmel remembers for his concerts here some years ago) is an interlude for a Satyr play. "Imperial Gesture" is a study in arrogance.

Simplicity and directness characterize all of Martha Graham's work whether the composition be tragic or humorous. Never does she stoop to the mediocre. Her essential greatness demands that each gesture be meaningful and significant. Her present tour through the West is creating history, not only in the dance but in art in general. She is indeed "one of the most compelling personalities in the contemporary arts." She has been acclaimed as the greatest American dancer since Isadora Duncan. Her new dances have won the most enthusiastic praise in New York. She has accomplished that almost impossible thing, the breaking of new ground accompanied by a complete triumph over tradition. To see Martha Graham dance is to see the essence of America translated into beauty.

P. G. Senior Play To Be "Growing Pains"

Gordon Knoles of the Grove high faculty, has announced a tentative cast for the Senior play for this year, which he is directing. "Growing Pains, a comedy of adolescence, written by Aurania Rouvel, will be presented to the public approximately five weeks from now. The following incomplete and tentative cast has been announced: George McIntyre, Verne Williams; Terry McIntyre, Betty Durnford; Mrs. McIntyre, Audrey Colburn; Professor McIntyre, Charles Fog; Prudence Darling, Doris Cook; Brian, Bill McLean; Mrs. Patterson, Barbara Ansell; Elsie Patterson, Dorothy Rising; Traffic Officer, Bill Crowley; Dutch, Vernon Baxter; Omar, Edgar Shaffer; Hal, Kenneth Ward; Patty, Frances Hodges; Jane, Frances Parker; and Vivian, Betty Seabury.

Now Is Time to Rid Garden of Pests

Too often home gardeners are apt to underestimate the necessity of early control of sowbugs, snails, slugs, cutworms, earwigs, and other garden pests. With spring upon us, these pests are sure to become very active. Many people who prize their gardens highly overlook the fact that they can do much damage while still so tiny as to be almost unobserved.

These garden pests can be easily controlled with applications of bran baits, such as Pestex.

For nearly 15 years the Roberts Co. has carried on continuous experiments to perfect a bait which sowbugs will take readily. In the course of these long experiments it was found that sowbugs do not attack plants singly but in large groups.

Mrs. Ned Jacco has returned from Piedmont after a visit of a week.

Dramatic Seminar Gets Under Way at Sunset; Adults Studying Plays

CLEY OTTO suggested a flexible routine for dramatic study and action at the first meeting of the dramatics seminar held Monday evening at Sunset auditorium. The group, open to all who are interested in plays, players and play production, is under the auspices of the Monterey union high school adult education department and will meet each Monday evening from 7 o'clock until 10. There is no fee charged for participation.

As leader, Mr. Otto proposed an active group of "abc's" and a passive group of "def's". Under the former category would come Acting, Backstage activities and Casting. The second would study Dramaturgy, the writing and structure of plays; Expedients, having to do with the physical nature of the theater, acoustical problems and the like; and Front, having to do with the managerial side of the theater.

Each play-problem taken by the group will be "in seminar" for four weeks, the fourth week to stimulate a production. Original manuscripts or special favorites of group members will be considered for study. At the request of Mr. Otto, Playwright and Novelist Richard Masten had a manuscript of his own at the meeting, and the group voted to devote the first four weeks to this play, "Among Those Present." Martha Vaughn, who formerly had charge of dramatic activities at Radcliffe college and has also directed summer camp drama at Brattleboro, Vt., under Katherine Jewel Everts, was appointed director, and author and director proceeded to cast the play. Two persons were assigned to each of the larger parts, in order to use up the entire group. As only one copy of the manuscript was available, Mr. Masten read the play himself. "Among Those Present" has a

Carmel setting and an artist as the central character. The "problem" is his social-climbing wife.

Humane Death for Pets Planned

Mrs. Millicent Sears of Carmel Highlands has been chosen by the California Citizens' Committee for state humane pound legislation to circulate locally one of the petitions by which an initiative measure will be placed on the ballot for the November election, prohibiting the surrender of unclaimed dogs and cats by pounds to research laboratories or unqualified individuals, and providing a humane death if no home is offered.

Agitation for legislation in this direction is largely the growth of what is known as the "Chillot-Armstrong Vivisection case" in Northern California. Much indignation was aroused among animal lovers by this case, in which it was alleged that a medical student and a nurse obtained a dog for experimental purposes, performed a major experimental operation, and failed to give the animal proper post-operative care so that it died in great agony. This focused attention on the necessity so to safeguard animals that they could not be given by pounds to improperly qualified or irresponsible people, for experimental purposes.

According to the Citizens' Committee, Noel Sullivan of Carmel personally endorsed the bill when it was before the legislature in 1933, and is one of the subscribers to the fund which made the launching of this petition possible.

It's "News" When Lester Donahue Plays "Walking on the Waves"

By THELMA B. MILLER

NEWSPAPERS cover such matters as concerts by stories which are technically known as "reviews," but after listening to Lester Donahue play Liszt's "St. Francis Walking on the Waves," with which he closed his concert at Margaret Lial's studio in Monterey the evening of March 19, it seemed to me that this came under the category of "news" (you know, the same as when a man bites a dog). It was a sensational performance. I have never heard the thing played before, and it is no wonder. Pianists must be few and far between with the courage to tackle it, and I hope I'll be spared ever hearing a woman try to play it. It requires not only technical proficiency, but back muscles. Watching the piano take the worst beating I have ever witnessed, and listening to the tremendous and imagination-stirring waves of sound surge tangibly over the little room, I thought apprehensively of those slender little ~~skirt~~ which piano hammers have, and I am prepared to swear that I heard the twang of a breaking string or two. It is worth while to have heard what Liszt was capable of in his more powerful moments, and to see what real music can be called from

Shrubs Discussed for Club Section

Berry-bearing shrubs were discussed by Prof. Wilbur Howes of Polytechnic high school, San Luis Obispo, at the meeting of the Woman's club garden section held March 19 at the home of Mrs. Otis Berthold on the Point. Named as ten particularly fine shrubs for this region were the following:

Berberis darwini, a small shrub with blue berries which thrives in shade; Cotoneaster parneyi, which bears red berries in clusters on its weeping branches and enjoys full sun; Eugenia hookeri, which cannot stand frost; Ilex aquifolium or English holly, of which the male and female which will climb with its scarlet-varieties must be planted together in order to develop the red berries; Nandina domestica, red-berried and shade-loving; Photinia arbutifolia or Toyon, which sometimes is affected by mildew, in which case it should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture; Pyracantha angustifolia, or narrow-leaf firethorn, with orange berries, which is subject to pear blight; Arbutus unedo, or Mexican strawberry tree, with flowers and red fruit; pyracantha coccinea lalandii, orange berries against buildings to stunning effect and like all the pyracantha family wants full sun; and Viburnum americana, or highbush cranberry, which needs frost for full perfection.

The speaker remarked that placement of shrubs is most important, not only in regard to their character and height, but taking into consideration their preference for sun and shade, their need for or antipathy to frost.

Kay Jones was in Sacramento for two days this week.

IN accordance with custom, the annual popularity contest was duly held by the students of the Grove high school, this week. The pictures of the winners are to be put in the annual, the Sea Urchin, and they are: most popular, Barbara Ansell and Ernest Watson; most efficient, Mildred Cashin and Harry Duffenbaugh; most courteous, Barbara Stutzman and Bill Van Ess; best natured, Mildred Rose and C. B. Ward; most friendly, Evelyn Brier and Kenneth Ward; best athlete, Dolores Neilson and Clifford Coleman; wittiest, Doris Cook and Bill

Crowley; best all-round, Jean Perkins and Harry Duffenbaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Neilson and daughter, Dorothy, and Tony Romano journeyed to Oakland during the week-end and visited Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fenton in Piedmont, and Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Halnan in Alameda.

Miss Betty Rose Lewis was the hostess to a group of her friends at her parent's home on Twelfth street, Saturday night. Those participating in the games and fun and refreshments that comprised the curriculum of the evening included: Misses Bobette Robinson, Jane Brackett, Shirley Moffett, Alma Falt, Mae Leslie, and Jean Rogers; and Messrs. Phillip Kenyon, James Kenyon, Homer Lentz, William Ziegler, Jack Shepherd, Gordon Stewart, Donald Stewart, and the hostess, Miss Lewis.

Returning to their summer home in Pacific Grove over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. T. Beard, their daughter, Elizabeth, Miss Edythe Becker, and Mrs. Beard's mother, Mrs. Hamilton. While enjoying the familiar scenes of the peninsula, the Beards visited with Mrs. Edith Leslie and Miss Mae Leslie of Pacific Grove.

Scoffing at the rebellious wind and piercing cold, a large number of Grove high students enjoyed a beach picnic at Asilomar, Sunday afternoon and evening. Misses Barbara Ansell, Thelma Baxter, Fae Hodges, and Frances Parker were the instigators of the affair, and Mrs. Ansell and Mrs. Baxter were the "overseers" present.

Councilman Fiddes stressed the severity of the flood damage in the east and told of the work of the Red Cross in relieving the misery caused by these disasters, at a special meeting of the Grove high student body, Tuesday forenoon. He suggested that the students cooperate with the faculty in contributing to the fund to be given to the Red Cross to aid in their work in the flooded areas.

YOUNG Americans from Many Lands," Peck and Johnson—You will like these boys and girls whose families come from far-away places but who are young Americans like yourselves. San Genaro is an exciting time with its fire-works and bright lights, for Gemma in Little Italy. New Years, or Bonne Annee as Rene calls it, is even more thrillingly celebrated with the French people in Louisiana. You will enjoy watching with New Moon the fantastic parade in Chinatown. These are only three of the boys and girls you will meet in this book of nine young Americans. 3rd-6th grades.

"Carcajou," Montgomery.—Carcajou is a giant weasel or wolverine, fearless and with a strength many times his size. His conflict with Two Gray Hills, skilled Indian trapper, is a thrilling one. Carcajou uses all his cunning and deviltry to destroy the trapper's sets while the Indians and his trained grizzly use every effort to outwit this enemy in fur. And there are wintry winds, intense cold and snow slides which must also be conquered. 6th-8th grades.

PROGRESSIVE EDUCATION

What educators call the "social studies" is one of the feathers in the cap of progressive education, the kind of education favored at Sunset school in contrast to the old rote method of drilling in the three R's and regarding everything else as unnecessary frills. The test of any educational method is whether or not it works. In an entertainment given last Friday afternoon at Sunset school we have detected additional evidence that the progressive system is pragmatically sound. If the method of presenting the social studies is such as to inspire children to make a little drama out of what they have learned, we can't help believing that it is making more impression on the mind of the system to which the present adult generation was exposed.

Presumably children as well as grown people want to know a good reason why they should be required to spend time studying about what happened long ago when men lived in caves, or later in Greece and Rome, and just why it was significant that Charles Martel stopped the Mohammedan advance in France. The little playlet the sixth graders created and staged showed a continuity behind all these events. It showed that Christianity is not just something you are exposed to in Sunday school one day a week, but a force that played its significant part in history. It showed that man through the ages has been a battle ground for conflicting forces, and that he still is, but it showed a hope, no more childish than universal, that the forces of good will almost invariably win out in the long run.

Perhaps the children did not understand fully all the implications of the material they were dealing with, but they must see more meaning in their social studies just because they are being taught as part of one unending pattern. We remember an incident in our own school days, when a visiting superintendent quizzed a class as to what had been the contribution to civilization of Greece and Rome. We didn't know; we didn't even know that Greece and Rome had contributed anything to civilization. We doubt if the Sunset school sixth graders could be caught with that kind of a question, or even the younger children who saw the play based on material which they haven't studied yet.

A secondary lesson is to be learned from that excellent little playlet. It is one which our adult dramatic groups might profit by. There is a natural dramatic instinct in people which is particularly vivid and unbridled in children. It is at its best when it springs out of material which has significance to the group. The effect of the performance was as if the children, after a certain amount of classroom work, had exclaimed, with only a very little prompting from their teacher, "Let's make a play about all this!" As a result the performance had a stirring quality which more studious, cut-and-dried performances from some one else's manuscript is bound to lack.

YOU'LL HAVE TO HURRY

If you are one of those wise persons who took advantage of the inducements offered under the FHA whereby you could buy appliances for the home with three years to pay, you won't need to worry about next Tuesday. But if you have dilly-dallied along thinking about that new refrigerator, gas or electric range, automatic water heater or washing-machine without acting, you better sit up and take notice, because Uncle Sam is clamping down. Title I of the FHA ends Tuesday, so you better buy now.

ON A VISIT TO CARMEL

*Oh let me live in the sound of the sea!
 Its crash and mighty roar.
 And the whispering sound of the long slow waves
 Sliding in on the shore.*

*Let me have the feel of the salt sea spray
 Blowing against my face.
 Let me breathe the ocean's cool, clean air,
 Let me live in a quiet place.*

*Let me live away from the city's noise
 With only the sound of the sea.
 And the brave wind blowing across the world,
 Through the green of a cypress tree.*

—ALICE L. CRESSON.

STORM KING

*Between a darkling world and star-slung sky,
 On Storm King's granite pinnacle I stand,
 To feel Creation's awesome powers brand
 The nerve and spirit with a burning cry.
 While clinging earth-things round my being twine
 And grave the heart with runes of joy and pain,
 The tides of ages throb in flesh and vein—
 Enchantment of the Infinite is mine!*

*Compelled by Nature's mastery, I know
 Myself a kin to every living thing—
 The splendid beast with stealthy eyes aglow,
 The lowly worm, the bird on joyful wing;
 Conjoined in flame, a spirit-sister of
 The sun-scorched bloom and singing stars of love.*

FAN C. SMITH, In Shards.

DREAMS UNDER AN UMBRELLA

*On the hay in the barn I hear no sound
 But the fitful stamp of a hoof
 And the sleepy fingers of the rain
 Tapping there on the roof.*

*From my arm-chair under the attic beams
 I watch a window-pane,
 And hear a thousand tinkling notes
 From harp-strings of the rain.*

*This is no barn or garret nook,
 But a street in a clattering town,
 Where I hold a big umbrella up,
 While the rain comes patterning down.*

CHARLES BALLARD.

MOTHS AND MEN

*An airy, fluttering golden moth
 Fell victim to a taper's light.
 A silver moth clung to a leaf,
 And perished in the chill of night.*

*Men, too, woo coruscating flames
 Which have the power to quench the breath,
 While others, like the silver moth,
 Remain aloof . . . and freeze to death.*

—FAN C. SMITH, in The Chicagoan.

MR. TUSLER PROTESTS

From Henry S. Tusler, now in Phoenix, The Pine Cone this week received the following telegram, an extension and amplification of messages received last week by the city council, via telephone and telegram:

"Have just received word work has been started opening road on beach between Eighth avenue and Ocean avenue, once called Del Mar avenue. Understand this work being done without authorization of city council. Believe this should be brought to attention of your readers before it is too late. Save this beautiful stretch of beach from rows of parked cars and resultant accumulation of garbage, rubbish, and the possibility of another row of partially submerged hot water boilers."

Mr. Tusler is the owner of that quaint stone house on the sands near the foot of Eighth avenue, a house that is now one of Carmel's most charming, but which on a city street would lose much of its character. It demands its present isolated setting, which gives it the feeling of having grown from the sand, like a stone outcropping. His alarm is easy to understand.

Like the need of another policeman, the opening of Del Mar is a matter about which the burden of proof rests on the city council. It seems the height of folly to cram down the throats of citizens and property owners "improvements" and "progress" for which they not only see no need, but toward which they feel actual revulsion.

Nothing further will be done about the opening of Del Mar until after the city election, April 14. It is one of those matters too controversial to be allowed to intrude itself right at campaign time. When it does come up again, the probability is that it will be thoroughly thrashed out in the council chambers, not decided behind closed doors.

LIQUOR HEARINGS

Scheduled for yesterday afternoon in Salinas were hearings before a member of the State Board of Equalization at which three applicants were to protest the refusal of the board to grant them licenses for sale of hard liquor. The board refused the licenses because of protests from the chief of police, the council, and Carmel citizens. The hearings were to be held too late in the week to be covered in this week's issue of The Pine Cone. Regardless of the decision, it is well that the hearings were called, for it will clarify the respective rights of the community and of applicants for liquor licenses. If it is within the province of the city to exercise jurisdiction over the granting of licenses, we should know it. If this is a violation of the rights of applicants, we should know that too, and seek some other means of protection against the indiscriminate granting of licenses to any and all applicants.

And in the background looms Carmel's "liquor case" which gives evidence of being postponed into eternity. A decision for the Carmel Development Company, the plaintiff, against property owners would mean that the sale of all liquor for consumption on or off the premises would be prohibited, and Carmel would be to all intents and purposes a dry town.

If the Happy Warrior does stage a walkathon at the Philadelphia convention, it might be called a Brown Derby.

Mrs. Charles L. Berkey has returned home after being in the Community hospital for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wehrhane left this week for Marysville, where they expect to stay for a few days.

New Golf Event Attracts Many

Many Monterey peninsula golfers will participate in the Del Monte Invitational Handicap tournament, golfdom's newest event, which takes place for the first time this week-end.

Among the local players entered in the tournament are J. E. Abernethy, Capt. Warren J. Clear, Harrison Godwin, Jack Miller Goodeno, Stuart Haldorn, McKim Hollins, Col. Stuart A. Howard, Dr. Paul Hunter, Frederick A. Ingalls, Harold L. Mack, Francis McComas, S. F. B. Morse, Carl S. Stanley, Addison Stillwell, Col. R. R. Wallace and Paul S. Winslow.

Gladys R. Johnston Opens Realty Office

This week came the announcement that Gladys R. Johnston, with Claribel Haydock Zuck as associate, has opened real estate offices on Ocean avenue in the court of the Golden Bough.

Gladys Johnston was formerly in charge of rentals in the office of Barnet Segal. She then associated herself with Harrison Godwin when the latter moved offices to Carmel. Now after passing her realtor's examinations, Mrs. Johnston has opened offices for herself and has taken over Godwin's interests here.

Claribel Haydock Zuck is a long-time resident of Carmel and was connected with R. C. deYoe a number of years ago.

Sixth Graders Play Producers

The entire student body and a great many visitors as well were entertained with a symbolic play created and produced by the sixth grade in Sunset auditorium last Friday afternoon. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" was the title given to the play, which showed man's long struggle against the forces of fear and evil, aided by the spirit of Christianity, and pointed toward an ideal future in which the forces of good will be triumphant. A large cast participated in the series of short episodes, which were effectively costumed and beautifully lighted. There was real menace in the scene which showed the Saracens converging on Christian Europe, but the episode which really made the spine tingle was that in which a low and mournful keening from grief-bent, gray-clad figures on the dimly lighted stage was explained to be the mothers of the world mourning their sons lost in war.

Clothes Needed for Parish Rummage Sale

The parish guild of All Saints church will hold its annual rummage sale at the parish house on April 24 and 25. The members are asking their friends to keep this event in mind as they refurbish their wardrobes for spring or prepare for spring cleaning and the discarding of unneeded articles. Any such donations may be left at the rectory on Monte Verde, or a telephone message to any member of the build will bring someone to call for them.

Sunset School Pupils Are to Present Play

At a general assembly next Friday afternoon, April 3, at 2:50, members of the 8B and 8A classes at Sunset school will present a play in five scenes, dramatizing two of the most colorful periods in American history, the Civil War and the westward movement. Incorporated in the play are songs and dances of the period with typical accents and dialects of southern gentlemen, darkies and pioneers adding interest.

We were all very fashion-conscious at the end of last week, what with three style shows all on the same week-end. The first was the very charming dessert-bride given by the Tau Mu sorority in the lounge at San Carlos hotel, in Monterey, Thursday afternoon, which was followed by the fashion revue in which members of the sorority acted as models.

If there is any dearth of pretty girls for Carmel dramatics this spring and summer season, we recommend that the dramatics scouts investigate the membership list of Tau Mu, for there was plenty of beauty and personality on parade, along with the new spring togs.

Then Friday evening everybody went to the big spring style show at Holman's, where again the lovely display of gorgeous color and luscious fabrics was calculated to make one feel very dissatisfied with the present state of the wardrobe. Well known peninsulaans modeled the styles, for men, women and children. Saturday night the big attraction

Flood Sufferers Get Aid From Card Party

About $50 will be donated to the Red Cross for eastern flood sufferers as a result of the bridge party given Monday afternoon at Pine Inn by the bridge section of the Woman's club.

Seven tables were in play, and a number of additional guests dropped in for tea after the game. Mrs. John Jordan, chairman of the bridge section, was assisted in arranging the affair by Mrs. Alfred Wolff, who presided at the tea table, and other members of the section.

Red Cross Flood Fund Now $543

"I knew that when Red Cross made its first flood relief appeal last week through our president, that Carmel would respond, as always, generously," said Mrs. Karl Rendtorff, chairman of Carmel chapter yesterday.

On Monday, the Carmel quota of $250 had been raised and more subscriptions have been pouring in all week to the local banks and Red Cross headquarters.

The flood disaster in the 16 eastern states has taken a great toll of life and left hundreds of thousands homeless and in need of relief for weeks to come. A second call in the form of a telegram from Admiral Cary T. Grayson, national chairman American Red Cross at Washington, D. C., asked additional contributions from Carmel this week.

Already Carmel is past the second quota asked. At noon, Thursday, $543 were in hand and had been dispatched to Pacific coast headquarters for immediate use.

Subscriptions will continue to be received for the flood sufferers by the Bank of Carmel, the Monterey Trust and Savings Bank and local Red Cross headquarters on Dolores street.
